Byrd Sparks Opposition to U.S. School Aid

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., sparked fresh Southern opposition to President Kennedy's aid to education program with the assertion today that it will open a back door to school integration.

Byrd said he is convinced after an analysis of Kennedy's proposals for federal educational grants to states to spend as they see fit that the program will "pave the way for the most colossal sort of expenditures."

But even more distasteful to him, he said in an interview, is what he regards as the probability that Congress eventually may require school desegregation in all states accepting federal funds.

"No one can guarantee that there will not be federal efforts to control our schools to this extent," Byrd said.

"Any bill Congress passes now may not carry a desegregation provision. But there is real danger that on some future bill appropriating the money to make the payments to the states a rider may be attached saying that no funds shall go to any state which does not desegregate its schools."

Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff told a news conference Monday he believed it would be a great tragedy to use federal aid to education as a lever to end school segregation.

Ribicoff endorsed the 1954 Supreme Court ruling against segregation in public schools. But he said he would oppose any amendment that would deny federal aid to schools because they are segregated.

Byrd's outspoken opposition to the education program was regarded as significant because some Kennedy administration officials believed the Virginian might go along because of the state control features of the Kennedy bill.

Their efforts to woo Byrd over to their side have been matched by attempts to chip other Southern Democrats away from a bipartisan conservative coalition opposing the Kennedy proposals.

Even strong administration supporters like Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., are wary of any intrusion of the school segregation issue.

Smathers, secretary of the Senate Democratic Conference, said he supports the "general principles" of the Kennedy program. But he added that he will stand with other Southerners against any effort to enforce integration through it.

Salem Included in Hospital Funds

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Salem was added to the Hill-Burton federal hospital construction aid fund list Wednesday by the Arkansas Advisory Hospital Board.

A spokesman for a group representing Salem, in Fulton County, said the city plans to build a $300,000 hospital containing 25 beds.

The Hill-Burton fund is a plan whereby the federal government matches money spent by cities toward construction of hospitals and nursing homes.

Arkansas, which lost population in the 1960 census, will receive less funds during the coming fiscal year than during the current year. The state received $2.8 million in 1960 and will be allocated only $2.1 million in the 1961 fiscal year starting July 1.

Kennedy Asks Development of Resources

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today sent Congress a program for vast development of America's natural resources and he asserted Eisenhower administration policy took a heavy toll of lives "by postponing essential flood control projects."

In a special message, the President set forth plans for both immediate and long range dealing with a host of problems in the field of resources. He said: "If we fail to use these blessings prudently, we will be in trouble in a short time."

He called for facing up to the problems now, and added: "The task is large but it will be done."

Kennedy placed no price tag on his far-reaching program which, among other things, envisages development of economically competitive nuclear power within 10 years to replace or supplement power from conventional fuels in areas where such fuel is expensive.

Administration officials said they won't be able to estimate the added cost of the over-all Kennedy program over present levels of resources spending until studies by the Budget Bureau and other federal agencies have been completed. These officials indicated they look for very little impact on the budget with several of Kennedy's proposals geared to needs years from now.

Specific recommendations by the President include doubling spending on research aimed at making salty ocean water suitable for use in the home and by industry. The administration said this would hike the outlay to $10 million a year.

"I pledge," said Kennedy, "that when this know-how is achieved it will immediately be made available to every nation in the world who (sic) wishes it, along with appropriate technical and other assistance for its use. Indeed the United States welcomes now the cooperation of all other nations who wish to join in this effort at present."

The Kennedy program dealt with water resources generally and the prospect for doubled consumption to 600 billion gallons daily by 1980; big scale expansion of electric power; forest conservation; exploration of the oceans for oil, gas and minerals and for seafood; great expansion of recreational areas; and control of air and water pollution.

Kennedy said that in marketing federal electric power, preference would be given to the private sector.

Faubus Agrees to Retirement Compromise

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus today said he had accepted a proposed compromise in a dispute between him and the Arkansas Education Association over revision of the Teacher Retirement System.

Faubus declined to say who made the compromise or to give any details, but he did comment that it was a matter of "some giving on both sides."

A legislative backer of the AEA plan, who asked not to be identified, said he understood the compromise would call for state contributions to the system on a fixed basis rather than on a percentage formula.

He said the proposal was to have the state contribute $3.7 million in the next fiscal year and $3.9 million the following year.

Faubus had favored state participation of 5 per cent of teachers' salaries. The AEA wanted this to be 9.72 per cent.

Faubus said that Sen. Clarence Bell of Parkin, a school superintendent and an AEA leader, would discuss the proposed compromise with an AEA committee tonight.

Faubus said that if the committee accepted the proposal, the controversy would be at an end for the time being. He refused to say what he meant by "for the time being," but presumably referred to the two-year period mentioned by the legislator.

If the proposal is not accepted the final determination will still have to be made by the legislature, Faubus said.

Faubus was asked at a news conference if perhaps the compromise would include the "stealing" of Forrest Rozzell, the AEA's executive secretary, of whom the governor has been critical.

Faubus replied that he would as soon deal with Rozzell as with anyone else if he thought Rozzell were right and that personality was not involved.

Before volunteering that he had been made what he called a proposition on the controversy, and that he had accepted, Faubus declined to say whether he would sign the AEA-sponsored bill if it were the only one passed by the legislature.

A House effort to poll teachers on their preference between the two plans apparently has failed because of disagreements among members of a committee named to draft a letter asking county presidents of the Classroom Teachers Association to conduct the poll.

Sevier County Rep. George W. Davis, the committee chairman, said members were unable to agree on how the letter should be worded. Davis, who sponsored the resolution setting up the committee, said he would report to the House later today. He declined to say what his next step might be.

The committee membership had three persons who favor the Faubus plan, along with Davis and Rep. Ole Maddox of Montgomery County, co-authors of the AEA bill.

Misquoted on Seating of Red China

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—President Janio Quadros has instructed Brazil's delegation at the United Nations to vote for discussion of seating Communist China the next time the question arises.

By misinterpreting a note from Quadros to the delegation published here Wednesday night, The Associated Press erroneously reported that Brazil's new president ordered it to vote for seating the Peiping government.

Nevertheless it is believed that if the U.N. General Assembly changes its long-standing arrangement to bar discussion of admitting Peiping and decides to vote on the actual question of admission, Brazil would vote yes.

Quadros has been making overtures toward the Communist bloc as part of his campaign for an "independent" foreign policy for Brazil.

Brazil has opposed seating the Peiping regime in the past.

Floyd Reese, chairman of the industrial development committee of the Bentonville Chamber of Commerce, announced the sale Wednesday and said Danny Dare plans to double the working force of 50 in the next few months. It will be known as the Benton Manufacturing Co.

The Kansas City firm manufactures clothing for boys.

The Newman company was owned by H. M. Newman of Bentonville.

Construction Bills to Be Only Routine

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—An attempt to get two administration-backed institutional construction bills rushed through the House Wednesday failed but the measures will probably be routinely passed today.

The passage action failed when Columbia County Rep. Harry B. Colay, who authorized them, attempted to secure a suspension of House rules so a vote could be held on a bill providing for an election on a $60 million bond issue.

Rep. T. Ed Field of Hempstead County said he thought more time was needed for reading the catch-all Faubus bills so he objected to the rules suspension move.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus presented a plan Tuesday that call for an outlay of $70 million for construction, with $16 million coming from surplus revenues.

But a Joint Budget Committee introduced bills to effect the first phase of the program Wednesday. One would split the first $35 million among the university, the state colleges, the State Hospital, Melroe Sanatorium and the Children's Colony.

Congressional re-districting, thought by many to be already solved, was reopened in the Senate.

A new plan, presented by Sen. Morrell Gallbright of Pine Bluff, would be used, if adopted, only if the pending Congressional bill would remove one Arkansas seat to approved.

Gallbright said his plan would be a compromise between the present six-district system and the Mays plan providing for four districts.

Under his plan, all districts would remain the same as under the Mays Plan except that Lonoke County would be taken from the 2nd District and placed in the new 5th District along with Chicot County which would be removed from the 6th. The 5th would essentially be the old 6th District with the addition of Lonoke and Chicot.

An amendment to the constitution that would allow city councils to levy property taxes for specific purposes was submitted to the House by Rep. Lonnie Etheridge of Jackson County.

The taxing proposal doesn't set a limit on the tax but provides that money collected would have to be used for the purposes specified. An election repealing a tax could be held any time 15 per cent of the voters petitioned such an election.

A proposed constitution amendment was defeated last November that would have allowed cities to increase their taxing powers from the current five mills for general purposes.

Powell and his wife could not be reached for comment.

State Jobless Pay Share $4.7 Million

LITTLE ROCK — President Kennedy's emergency unemployment compensation program could pump $4,710,712 into Arkansas' economy during the next 12 months, Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today.

Faubus produced the figure in announcing that J. L. Bland, director of the Employment Security Division, would represent the state next Tuesday at a meeting in Washington of state employment agency heads.

Kennedy has proposed extending employment benefits for an additional 13 weeks to persons who have exhausted regular benefits. Arkansas currently pays up to $30 a week for 26 weeks.

Kennedy plans to finance the program by an additional 4 per cent payroll tax on employers. His proposal now is before Congress.

Bland estimated that 21,326 persons would exhaust regular benefits in Arkansas before Dec. 31 if the present unemployment rate of 12.1 per cent continues.

Bland said 29,491 persons drew benefits for the week ended Feb. 18. This was 8,421 more than received payments during the same week in 1960.

Safer Bonds Rated Best, Stephens Says

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Safeguards built into Gov. Orval E. Faubus' proposed $80 million construction bond issue should guarantee a favorable interest rate, Rep. W. R. Stephens of Grant County predicted today.

"The interest rate should be under 4 per cent," said Stephens, a financier. "That compares to 5 1/2 per cent if the bonds were not adequately secured."

The interest savings on the $20 million first package of bonds alone would be $300,000 a year at the better rate, Stephens said.

The Faubus plan — which calls for four small bond issues at one-year intervals — is superior to any plan which would authorize a large bond issue because the state cannot show enough surplus revenue to secure a big issue, Stephens said.

Faubus proposes to issue $20 million in bonds this year; $15 million in 1962; another $15 million in 1963 and $10 million in 1964. His bond program is subject to approval by the legislature and a favorable vote in a special election.

One of the safeguards referred to by Stephens is a provision in the bond bill that stipulates that, after the first $20 million is issued, succeeding issues cannot be floated unless the bond fund has at least twice as much as needed to pay on the existing debt.

Another safeguard is an immediate allocation of $2 million from surplus revenue to get the bond fund off to a solid start.

Faubus also has proposed allocation of specific revenues — such as increased race track and use taxes — to the bond fund.

West Airlines Snag Strike Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP)—White House sources said today President Kennedy has been advised the flight engineers strike can be ended promptly if Western Airlines goes along with commitments by other struck companies.

These sources, who asked not to be named, said that picture of the situation had been outlined to Kennedy by Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

The report coincided almost precisely with an outline given to newsmen by engineers' union sources.

Goldberg arranged to give Kennedy a first-hand report on settlement efforts.

Kennedy has been advised that a settlement by midday was virtually a certainty if Western Airlines agreed to let its striking flight engineers go back to work without reprisals while a presidential study committee — appointed earlier this week — attempted to work out long-range settlement terms. That probably would take about 90 days.

Western has fired its 130 striking engineers and has announced it will hire pilots to take their place.

Other struck airlines have agreed, on the other hand, to let their engineers return to work pending outcome of the study by the presidential commission.

Twice during the last 24 hours Goldberg is known to have been in touch with the president of Western Airlines in an effort to get that company to go along with the others.

Informed sources said the urgency of the situation was pointed up by plans of the other struck lines to withdraw their commitments to Goldberg if Western did not fall in line by noon EST today.

Stating flatly that "there will be no deal without Western," the Flight Engineers International Association spokesman said headquarters here has more than 1,000 telegrams to that effect from its members.

The union spokesman said attorneys for the strikers and the operators met until after 3 o'clock this morning and worked out many of the other problems. He indicated confidence that the remainder could be solved without

Recession Hitting Labor Unions Hard

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Labor Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The business recession is hitting hard at organized labor's own management operations. A drop of about one million dues-paying members has forced the AFL-CIO to retrench.

Federation leaders said privately today that, like many businesses, they are going to have to adopt economies and get more revenue to keep their big labor organization off the red.

Lagging employment has reduced AFL-CIO dues paying membership from about 13.5 million to about 12.5 million, it was said. Members out of work don't pay regular dues.

Also, while dues revenue has been declining, union expenses have been increasing.

The retrenchment program is expected to result in some layoffs on the AFL-CIO headquarters staff in Washington as well as a tighter rein on donations to various causes which have been running to over $1 million each year.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council also was expected to levy a temporary special assessment of two cents per member on affiliated unions in order to counter a general fund deficit that has climbed to about $700,000 in the past eight months.

The temporary additional dues payment, amounting to about $2 million would continue until the AFL-CIO holds its next convention here in December when a permanent dues increase is expected to be proposed.

Home Repair Keeps at a Steady Pace

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—If the demand for new homes has slack-ened, the yen for fixing up and enlarging present houses hasn't.

Some eager to cater to this trend optimistically estimate Americans will spend a record $21 billion this year on improvements and repairs.

This would help the economy in general at a time when such aid is welcome.

It also would please makers of all kinds of building materials, home furnishings and appliances,
as well as architects, decorators and builders. Sharing the boon would be dealers in lumber, plumbing fixtures, paint, and a fairly newcomer to the scene, the operator of home modernization centers.

The trend also would please various purveyors of credit to the masses—for improvement financing can run all the way from government-approved mortgage loans to advances by your friendly banker or finance company officer.

One of the services the home modernization center offers in a single package is that equally modern device, on-the-cuff financing.

The size of this market compares favorably with new housing put in place. Total spending on nonfarm residential construction in 1959 was put at $22.3 billion by the Bureau of the Cen-bravura display of slapstick monkeyshines. He earns added credits by doubling as the designer of lively costumes and set for the piece.

In the Versailles playlet, acted in a polished style of classic elegance, veteran Louis Seigner returns. Jacques Charon, another senior of the company, acts in both items, and directs "Scapin's Pranks."

A rapid-fire running translation is provided over radio earphones.
But the Comedie Francaise knows how to leap the language barrier without such aids. Just watching is high entertainment.

Also brand new and highly recommended is "Double Entry," a pair of short musicals at the tiny Martiniere Theater.

Fresh, funny and fascinating, the bill comprises "The Oldest Trick in the World," a hilarious peek behind the curtains of a fortune-telling parlor, and "The Bible Salesman," a back country
Negro fable of touching simplicity.

As the roguish Scapin, Robert Hirsch scores the personal triumph of the program with a

Those close to the moderniza-been one reason for the slowdown in building of new houses.

The National Retail Lumberging the market, especially since new home building slackened.

Compromise on Zoning Discussed

MEMPHIS (AP)—Attorneys for both sides agreed Wednesday to try to work out a compromise in a zoning dispute involving expansion plans of Harding College.

The City Planning Commission recently approved the school's proposal to build living quarters for married students in an East Memphis neighborhood. However residents objected, saying crowded apartments behind their homes would ruin the neighborhood.

Daughter Fears Date Ban End of Popularity

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:
I am almost 16 and until this year was painfully shy and, needless to say, dateless.

Last summer, through sheer will power, I did a right-about face and as a result this school year has been the happiest of my life.

Here is my problem: boys in my class want to date me, I mean, there is even a boy from another school who wants me to go out with him. My mother won't let me!

Way back, his family had a bad name. He isn't bad. I try to explain this but Mama won't listen. If the other boys hear she won't let me go with him, I'll never get asked. What am I to do? —N.

Dear N.: Your mother is right. However, if dating is banned, she must provide a substitute, else she will again have an introvert on her hands, or even more serious, a daughter bent on leading her own life, regardless of consequences.

It is your mother's responsibility to give you the opportunity to develop moral and social self-confidence. The best way to do this is to see that your friends come to your home at least once a week for record-playing, dancing or a buffet. Show your mother the reply to your letter. If she loves you, as of course she does, she will take my advice and save herself a lot of future trouble.

Dear Helen:
My problem is lack of education. I never got beyond the eighth grade.

Now I am 17 and have a good job with a super market chain but will be dropped pronto if they learn the truth about my schooling.

Is it too late to go to school now? I'd like to keep my job, support my girls and give them all the education they need. I know this letter isn't punctuated correct. —F.

Dear F.: Your letter is far more literate than many I receive from college graduates. Lack of education is only something to be ashamed of if you do nothing to correct the situation. It's never too late to learn. Explain your problem to the local Board of Education. It will put you in the proper adult education group, possibly in night school. The teachers might even work out a series of courses which you could study with your daughters. You face a thrilling adventure. Good luck!

Dear Helen:
I am 17 and have been going steadily with a man who is 26. He drinks a lot. I try to stay away from him but when he comes, I weaken. Lately, our pelling has been getting out of hand. I have accused him of taking me out for that reason. He went away mad.

Now I consider myself a pretty decent girl so I've called quits on the whole thing, figuring if he wants a decent girl, he'll be back. Am I right? —D. D.

Dear D. D.: Stick to your guns. If it's really love, your man will be back with a wedding ring in his pocket.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Is There a Test for Love?"

Smith Bows Out as Swiss Ambassador

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP)—Earl E. T. Smith, Palm Beach financier, has asked President Kennedy to withdraw his name as ambassador to Switzerland. He thus got Kennedy off a diplomatic hook.

Smith's appointment, never formally announced, was criticized strongly in the Swiss press. It drew some adverse comment at home, too.

A republican, Smith was ambassador to Cuba in the Eisenhower administration until just after Fidel Castro took over. He was quickly replaced there by a career diplomat.

Castro said Smith was too friendly with Fulgencio Batista, the dictator Castro overthrew.

Since the United States broke diplomatic relations with Cuba recently, the Swiss have been handling U. S. interests in Havana at U. S. request. Much of the Swiss criticism apparently centered on this factor—that the new appointment of Smith might cause embarrassment and difficulty in carrying out these duties for the United States.

Smith's appointment to Havana was regarded as a political appointment. During his election campaign, Kennedy often struck a note of ambassadors.

There was some surprise, therefore, when it became known here that Smith was Kennedy's choice purposes and five mills for capital improvements.

The House voted Wednesday to ask teachers which of two proposed retirement plans they prefer.

One plan, calling for state contribution limited at 5 percent of a teachers salary, is backed by Faubus. The other, supported by the Arkansas Education Association, would have the state contribute 9.72 per cent.

But a squabble even developed over the methods of having the teachers polled. It was finally resolved when a five-man committee was named by Speaker John P. Bethell to draft a letter to the teachers.

The House spent much of Wednesday beating down two controversial measures. A bill to create a Higher Education Board that would study education and make recommendations was defeated 50-36.

And pleas by Benton County Rep. Roy Galyean and Cleburne County Rep. Gean P. Houston calling for the end of capital punishment got 56 votes against while only 28 favorable votes.

Galyean, a minister, termed the death sentence a premeditated murder by the people.

The House also defeated for the second time a bill outlawing the use of the fifth wheel to bypass truck weight limit laws.

Among measures passed by the House were:

A bill giving farmers a refund of 6 1/2 cents a gallon tax on gasoline.

A bill empowering the University of Arkansas, Arkansas Tech, Arkansas A&M and State Teachers College to condemn property for school needs.

A bill allowing a petition by 15 per cent of the Crittenden County voters to call an election on whether to continue dog racing at West Memphis.

A bill permitting a driver to surrender his license rather than post bond in traffic case, other than drunken driving.

A bit of humor cropped up in the Senate Wednesday when Sen. Roy Riales of Menz presented a bill that would allow anyone who had served at least four years in the Legislature to become a licensed practical lawyer.

Riales seemed to be the only one taking the measure seriously.

The state constitution gives only the Arkansas Supreme Court the right to license attorneys.

Two bills relating to fire departments were defeated by the Senate but it left the door open for reconsideration.

One would require cities to carry liability insurance on fire department equipment and the other required a minimum fireman's salary of $300 monthly in first and second class cities.

But the Senate passed a bill to allow the State Teacher Retirement System to investigate in various types of bonds, among them local industrial development corporations.

Passed without opposition was a Civil Defense measure which provides for a method of legislative succession if any legislators were killed in an enemy attack.

Faubus signed into law a bill by Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsen abolishing use tax exemptions except for purchases made outside the state.

Other measures signed by the governor were:

A resolution asking the Game and Fish Commission to allow persons over 65 to hunt and fish without licenses.

A bill to set a 10 per cent admission tax on events at War Memorial Stadium. The money would go for refinancing and improvements.

A bill allowing the consolidation of up to four school districts.

A bill allowing Hot Springs Municipal Judge to hire a secretary.

A bill transferring the assessing of commercial airlines and water transportation companies to the state Assessment Co-ordination Department.

Auto Firm Sued by Wreck Victim

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—An Air Force officer who was injured last March 26 in a car wreck near Jacksonville, Ark., has filed a $787,000 suit against an English motor company and three American affiliates as a result of the wreck.

The suit, by Lt. Charles Blood, 26, who claims he was paralyzed from the neck down, said the wreck was caused by faulty brakes.

Roughly 36 per cent of the Indian population of the United States lives in Oklahoma.

for the Swiss post.

But Smith is a long time friend and neighbor of the Kennedy family at the Florida resort. While vacationing there before taking office, Kennedy played golf with Smith several times.

The Swiss government did not openly oppose Smith, but its cabinet delayed approval of him and made it clear it would rather have someone else. Ambassadorial nominations are never submitted to the Senate until the host government has indicated the nomination is welcome.

South Hit by Rainfall, Floods Result

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The soggy Southland braced to day for its seventh straight rainy day and took hope from a hint that the worst of the rain is over.

But even if the rains end Friday, and that's not certain, flooding from overloaded streams created new problems.

Property damage from high water and tornadoes continued to mount and the number of deaths rose to five early today when two children drowned as a boat evacuating them from a flooded area in Mississippi, capsized.

A teen-age boy drowned at Birmingham when he fell into a rain-swollen pond. Two deaths were attributed to the weather in Louisiana.

More showers were forecast for Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia today but the U.S. Weather Bureau at Birmingham said rainfall should not be as heavy on the western end of the band of weather.

While forecasters in Alabama indicated the rain will continue at least until Friday, the Weather Bureau at New Orleans said rains would end temporarily in Louisiana and Mississippi today and begin anew Friday.

Evacuations continued in several areas of Alabama but in some sections residents chose to stay and battle with the water.

Several Red Cross shelters continued in operation. The number of displaced persons in the Birmingham area rose to about 1,000 early this week but the figure began to shrink Wednesday night.

Tornadoes struck in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi within 24-hour period. All caused property damage but no serious injuries.

Mississippi National Guardsmen used amphibious equipment to evacuate scores of persons from houses in the Hattiesburg area Wednesday night. An estimated 500 persons were displaced there by high water.

More Racial Trouble in Nashville

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Negro minister was roughed up but not seriously injured as white youths used force in attempting to break up theater stand-ins by Nashville Negro students.

The number of demonstrators seeking entrance to four downtown, all-white theaters grew to 120 Wednesday night as Negroes were joined by Chinese and Mexican boys and several white coeds.

This group was attacked by the white youths in the same manner as the previous night. The police had dispersed the mob of white youths, but they gathered again to beat and kick the demonstrators as they headed for their church meeting place.

Three demonstrators were treated for minor injuries. The minister manhandled by the white boys was the Rev. Metz Collins of the United Presbyterian Church of the Nashville affrays.

Negro students in Columbia, S. C., picketed in the state capital and in front of a drugstore where five Benedict College students had been arrested and charged with trespassing for attempting to enter despite a "no trespassing" sign.

In Sumter, S. C., where police arrested 65 Negroes on Tuesday during a mass march and numerous sit-ins, a meeting was held to discuss the demonstrations and charges of police brutality.

City officials and 16 Negro leaders discussed those points but there was no public statement.

Five children named as plaintiffs in a suit seeking to integrate schools in Jacksonville and Duval County, Fla., have withdrawn from the federal court case. Attorneys for the Negro children said their parents pulled them out because of reprisals.

State attorneys said the parents withdrew their children because they did not live in the county.

Nine children remain as plaintiffs so the suit will proceed.

Singer Convicted of Kidnaping

BALTIMORE (AP)—Melvin Davis Res Jr., a 32-year-old jazz musician, today was convicted of kidnaping Mrs. Mildred Jackson and her 5-year-old daughter, Susan. The all-male jury did not recommend death punishment.

The verdict was announced in U. S. District Court at 10:08 a.m. The jury had reconvened at 9:30 a.m. after spending the night in a hotel. The jury had deliberated 5 hours and 3 minutes Wednesday.

Chief Judge Roszel C. Thomson deferred sentencing at the request of defense attorney William J. O'Donnell, pending a possible appeal.

Mortgage Discounts Only Temporary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., was told Wednesday that increased discounts on FHA-insured mortgages in the Little Rock area are only temporary.

James B. Cash Jr., acting commissioner of the Federal Housing Authority, told Fulbright, who had asked for a check into the rate increase, he believed a downward trend of discounts would be resumed soon.

WHAT A WONDERFUL FEELING—It's shivering cold by the seashore these days but 6-year-old Michael Arms loves the frothy foam pushed by the surf onto San Gregorio Beach, just south of Half Moon Bay, Calif. ATOMIC DEPTH CHARGE IS A LULU—Tucked in the bomb bay of a Navy S2F making a turn over the U.S. Atlantic coast near Long Island, N.Y., is a Lulu (arrow), the new atomic depth charge. Lulu, a compact free-fall bomb, shown left, is designed for accurate strikes against submarines by nearly all types of naval aircraft. Its vast "kill radius" allows enemy subs small chance to escape. The S2F also carries four conventional acoustical-homing torpedoes and two high-velocity air rockets.

Kansas State Has 3rd Bid at the NCAA

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Count Tex Winter's Kansas State Wildcats in for their third crack in the last four years at the NCAA basketball championship.

The Wildcats, bidding for their fifth Big Eight title in Winter's eight seasons as head coach, just about put away the NCAA berth Wednesday night when they shrugged off a slow start and whipped arch-rival Kansas, 81-63 at Manhattan, Kan.

The Cats and the Jayhawks, who beat 'em out for the tournament spot in a playoff last year, are tied for the conference lead now with 8-2 records with Iowa State and Colorado, both at 5-5, the closest challengers. But Kansas is out of tournament consideration this year and next because of probationary action by the NCAA. And with a three game lead with only four left, including home matches with Missouri, Nebraska and Colorado, it doesn't seem possible for the Wildcats to miss.

St. Joseph's (Pa.) moved with in one game of nailing the Middle Atlantic Conference's NCAA berth and NIT entries Dayton and DePaul won major tests in other features of the Wednesday program.

St. Joseph's pulled away in the late going for a 92-67 rout of Bucknell.

Dayton, pushing its winning streak to six for a 17-6 record, routed Xavier of Ohio, 94-71 as Garry Roggenbuck scored 24. DePaul, trailing at halftime, fired in 12 straight points soon after the intermission and downed NCAA-bound Louisville 75-67.

LaSalle and Seattle, a couple of tournament possibilities won again—the LaSalle Explorer (14-5) thumping Lafayette 104-86 and Seattle (15-7) napped Idaho State's 11-game winning streak, 64-57.

Clyde Rhoden took 11 shots, hit 10 as Arkansas won a Southwest Conference game from TCU 96-76. Maryland won a 77-62 Atlantic Coast Conference victory over Virginia.

Two of the nation's top ten scorers had big nights. East Tennessee's Tom Chilton, who ranks No. 2 with a 31.5 average, scored 35 points and plucked 21 rebounds in an 82-79 triumph over Wofford. Gettysburg's Ron Warner set a school career record of 1,155 points although he's only a junior—netting 30 in an 87-60 rout of Elizabethtown (Pa.).

Florida, challenging for the Southeastern Conference's NCAA berth, nipped non-leaguer Florida State, 75-74, and soph Bill O'Connor's 34 points led Canisius' 83-73 whipping of Syracuse.

Time Is Running Out on Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Time is running out on the Cincinnati Royals in their quest for a National Basketball Association postseason playoff berth.

The Royals, last in the Western Division, lost ground to both the second-place Los Angeles Lakers and third-place Detroit Pistons Wednesday night. The first three finishers in each division qualify for the playoffs.

Cincinnati dropped a 132-131 decision to the Philadelphia Warriors in the opener of a doubleheader at Detroit. The Pistons then broke a seven-game losing streak in the second game, downing the New York Knicks, 123-117.

The Lakers kept pace with Detroit, whipping the Boston Celtics 105-93 before 13,401 fans—the largest crowd ever to see a pro basketball game in Los Angeles.

The Lakers remain a game ahead of Detroit and the Pistons are two games in front of Cincinnati. The Royals have only 8 games remaining while Los Angeles and Detroit have 10 left.

Safer Bonds

taxes—to bond retirement. None of these safeguards were built into an earlier House bill to authorize a $52 million construction bond issue to be financed out of general revenue.

Stephens got credit for blocking the earlier bill, by Garland County Rep. Ray S. Smith.

Stephens said all the safeguards would work to make the Faubus bonds attractive in the financial market.

"Any bond proposal under which a large amount of bonds could be floated at one time would be unattractive," Stephens said, "even if, as under Smith's bill, it would be necessary to sell all the bonds at one time."

Smith's bill was written to substitute for a soft drink tax and bond issue bill which failed in the House.

All the bond proposals have been designed to finance major construction at the University of Arkansas, state colleges, the State Hospital and the Children's Colony. The Faubus plan includes minor projects at other institutions.

Faubus also proposes to spend another $16 million from current surpluses for work on their state projects.

much difficulty if Western would go along.

That estimate of the situation was considerably more optimistic than the one given by union sources shortly after the early-morning break-up of the negotiations.

At that time the word had been that "a little progress was made" but "we are a long way from agreement."

The Western situation and technical language on a non-reprisals pact were mentioned in that connection.

The issue immediately involved is that of a return to work and not final settlement of the dispute that caused the walkout.

The walkout started last Friday and reached monumental proportions this week. The engineers are protesting a ruling by the National Labor Relations Board that engineers and pilots at United Air Lines must be represented by one union.

The pressure was taking these forms:

Five major airlines, joined at times by a sixth, told the strikers Wednesday night that if they "have not reported their availability for service" by noon today the carriers would withdraw their non-reprisals assurances.

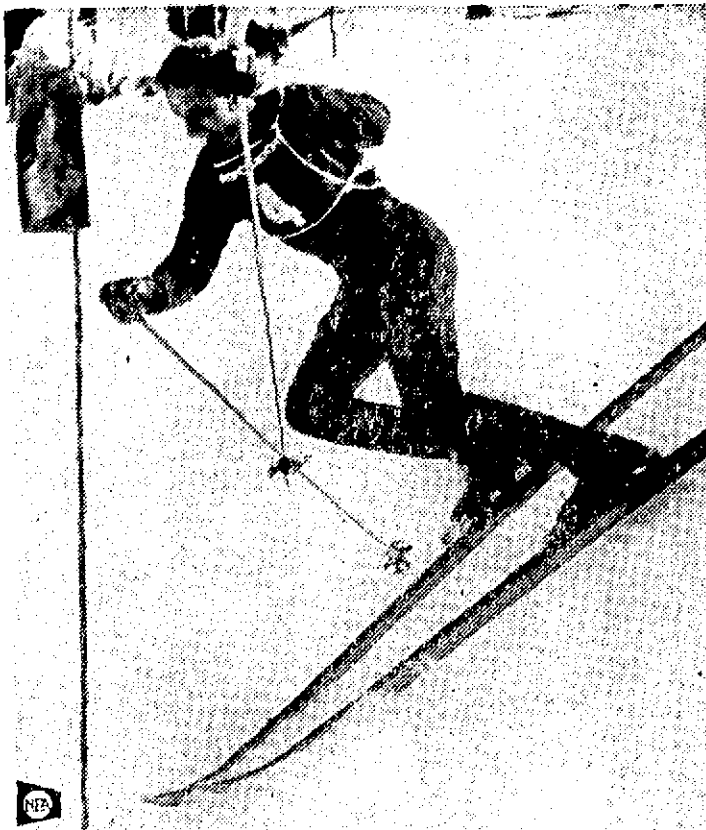

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said after a meeting with the officials of the six lines Wednesday that "there is no reason or justification to continue the walkout."

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, joined Kennedy in appealing to the strikers to return.

The optimistic note was sounded by panel chairman Nathan Feinsinger. After his group assembled Wednesday, he said it was proceeding "on the assumption that there will be a resumption of passenger service tomorrow."

He qualified his perception of a rainbow by saying "a feeling of optimism" is a prerequisite to the type of work the pane was engaged in.

The airlines issued their threat after a conference arranged by the government in an effort to end the strike. Goldberg said the union Western Airlines had refused to make the same assurance.

will be given to public agencies and cooperatives.

In outlining plans for water resources development, the President said "we reject a 'no new starts' policy." Kennedy did not name the Eisenhower administration but aides said this was a slap at his predecessor's regime. Kennedy and other Democrats contended during the campaign last year that the government under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower stifled development of water resources by advocating an economy policy, which, the critics said, blocked the start of new projects.

This refusal was one of the factors that held up a vote by the flight engineers on Kennedy's appeal.

The Flight engineers International Association at first said it would pull its members. Later, the union announced that the vote was delayed because many of its officers were tied up in litigation started by the airlines and because of Western's position.

NAACP Raps Appointment of Arkansan

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has criticized the prospective appointment of an Arkansas Democrat to a $17,500 a year post office job at St. Louis.

Object of the NAACP's opposition is Harold Jinks of Piggott, Ark., regional representative of the Democratic National Committee. A Post Office Department spokesman in Washington said Jinks was one of the persons being considered for the position of regional operations director of the post office at St. Louis. The position involves supervision of post office operations in Missouri, Arkansas and Iowa.

Mrs. Margaret Bush Wilson, president of the St. Louis chapter of the NAACP, attacked Jinks' views on segregation in letters sent to Postmaster General J. Edward Day and Missouri's congressmen. In the letter Mrs. Wilson reportedly said it was her understanding that Jinks had promoted racial segregation in party affairs at Little Rock.

U. S. Trying to End Air Walkout

By PIERCE LEHMBECK

NEW YORK (AP)—Flight engineers whose strike has entangled the nation in its worst airline tieup in history announced their decision today on whether they will bow to a return-to-work plea from President Kennedy.

The Flight Engineers International Association began polling its 3,500 members Tuesday night after Kennedy set up a three-member commission and asked the engineers to end their walkout while it studied the dispute.

The commission's powers will be only advisory, and there was pessimism among union leaders that the strikers would return to work.

The six-day-old wildcat strike has closed three of the nation's biggest passenger lines and has all but shut down three others. More than a half million passengers have been inconvenienced.

Eastern, American and Trans World all have ceased operation. Pan American, National and Western are maintaining only token service.

Losses in revenue by the six airlines are estimated at more than $5 million a day. More than 84,000 employees of the struck airlines have been laid off.

At Los Angeles, Western Airlines fired its 130 striking engineers and said they would be replaced by pilots as soon as the latter could be trained to handle the duties.

Kennedy's appeal was made through Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, who said the airlines had promised there would be no disciplinary action against the strikers.

The commission, which is to report to the President within 90 days, consists of three professors—Nathan Feinsinger of the University of Wisconsin, chairman; Richard Lester of Princeton and J. Keith Mann of Stanford.

Ronald A. Brown, president of the Flight Engineers' Association, said the crux of the situation is whether the findings of the commission would supersede a decision by the National Mediation Board that touched off the strike.

That decision ordered members of the union and the Air Line Pilots' Association at United Air Lines to vote for a single union as their bargaining agent.

Pilots outnumber engineers by more than three to one, and the engineers fear the ruling might lead to the eventual death of their union.

Goldberg has stressed, however, that the mediation board's decision in the United case is, not necessarily applicable to other airlines.

Oddly enough, United is the only major transcontinental airline not hit by the strike. Its flight engineers are pilot-trained and some belong to both unions.

United and other major airlines not touched by the walkout indicate widespread publicity given to the strike has hurt their business. United, Delta, Braniff, Northeast, Capital and Continental all reported unsold space on almost every flight Tuesday.

In Miami, U.S. Dist. Judge Emmet C. Chote fined the Eastern Air Lines chapter of the union $200,000, or whatever is in your treasury, for contempt in failing to obey an injunction against continuing the strike. Chapter leaders said they had about $2,000 in a Miami bank.

Slick Holdup Solves Itself

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One of this city's slickest holdups solved itself when the bandit returned his loot.

Eugene John Snyder, 33, jobless Fort Lauderdale salesman, Tuesday, handed a sack of bills to John O'Keefe, manager of a Flagler Federal Savings and Loan Association office.

"This is the money I stole yesterday," said Snyder, and began weeping.

Snyder said he spent only $20 of the $4,577 he obtained Monday by showing a teller a pistol wrapped in a newspaper.

"I needed money for groceries and medical bills. I was desperate," Snyder said.

"I only needed $300. When I looked in the bag and saw all that money I was shocked. I stayed awake all last night thinking about it. Then I decided to bring the money back."

Snyder said his wife is ill. He said the gun he used in the holdup was not loaded.

Snyder was held on $20,000 bond.

THIS HUGE TANKER BEING LAUNCHED before a cheering crowd of thousands is the first major ship built in Greece since the Crusades. Ancient Greece, however, not only gave birth to the culture and democracy of the West but for more than a thousand years supplied shipping which carried the greater part of the known world's commerce until the fall of Rome.

Christened WORLD HOPE by the Prime Minister, the new 25,000-ton vessel can carry more than all the thousand "black-hulled ships" launched thirty centuries ago to bring back Helen of Troy from the lofty towers of Ilium. But the mission today is peaceful progress through world commerce, the hope of modern Greece—and indeed the world.

Built by shipowner Stavros Niarchos, in his new Hellenic Shipyards near Athens, the WORLD HOPE completes the restoration of the oldest traditional maritime nation. Already leading the world in tonnage serving international trade, in the rosters of seamen employed; and in higher education for merchant marine officers; the original "sons of the sea" are again building ships on the shores where their ancestors laid not only keels, but the foundation of modern civilization.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE?

By HENRY FARRELL

By HENRY FARRELL Chapter XXVIII

Edwin stepped off the bus and paused to look up the hill. The street lamps came on marking the rising curving path ahead for him with their dull, intermittent light. The sun had gone down now, but the sky had yet to obtain the deep shades of night. Edwin, his pale face creased with strain, made his way to the corner and started up.

Edwin had finally decided to leave Del, to simply abandon her. He could no longer stand the sight of her. Or even, now that he was away from her, the thought of her. You had to survive. He had reasoned it out this way in an attempt to justify himself. You had to watch out for yourself; that was how the world was made.

For two days he had thought about it, until it came clear to him that he would have to start with the means available to him. Jane Hudson had money or at least access to some and would, therefore, have to provide him with his beginning. She had even promised him money, and a job, too, and so she was in his debt for these things. She was in his debt, and he was determined to find a way to make her pay up.

As he reached the drive in front of the Hudson house, however, all his carefully bolstered determination began to totter upon its own faulty foundations, and it occurred to Edwin that he had not yet committed himself to this undertaking irrevocably. He could still call it off. Del would be glad to have him back. He hesitated. Then, crossing to the door, he resolutely pressed the bell. Del would always be glad to have him back.

The sound of the bell rang in the kitchen with a sudden sharpness that almost caused Jane to knock over her glass.

Her first reaction was one of panic. They had come for her! They had come and she was alone.

The bell rang again and then, almost immediately, again. She rose from her chair and moving as if in a daze, crossed into the hall. Bumping against the edge of the door, she paused, cautioning herself to be quiet. If she didn't let them know she was there, they would have to go away after a while. And then she would run away.

Entering the living room, she attempted to walk through the darkness on tiptoe, but she staggered and fell against one of the chairs. Bracing herself, blinking hard to make out the dim shapes of the French windows, she straightened and took a new heading.

"I am very, very drunk," she told herself in whispered secrecy, "so I must be very, very careful."

The sound of the bell came again, echoing back hollowly from the distant ceiling. Making her way slowly, teetering across to the center window, she put her hand to the drape and peered out. At once she recognized the awkward, hulking figure on the terrace.

He had come back! Just when she had thought she would never see him again, just when she was so utterly deserted and alone in the world, he had come back to her. With a small cry of relief and joy, she started toward the door.

He was her friend. He had heard she was in trouble and had come to help her.

In the outer dimness, Edwin's fat figure was already moving down the steps and onto the drive. She hurried to the door and pulled

It open.

"Edwin!" she cried.

In the lowering darkness he stopped and turned. After a moment's hesitation, he came back, lumbering breathlessly up the steps.

"I — I thought maybe I'd missed you again," he wheezed. He crossed toward her with an unaccustomed air of decisiveness. "I'm glad I didn't though." But as he came closer to her,

Jane moved her hand with limp urgency, motioning him inside. "Come on in," she said shakily. "You've got to come in... you've got to. Edwin... and have a drink with me. You've got to!"

Blanche turned her head on the pillow, listening. There had been the repeated ring of the doorbell, and now—she was almost positive of it—there was the sound of voices from down in the kitchen. Staring hard into the darkness, she strained to hear. Yes, there were voices, Jane's. And some man's.

And then she realized that a great deal of time had passed since she had dropped the note out the window and help had still not come. Mrs. Bates, then, had deliberately abandoned her. Or Jane had found some way to forestall any interference. Since then she had lain in the darkness, empty and despondent. Again she had failed.

I will die, she had told herself, I feel it. I know it. And she had wondered how death would come to her. Her eyes reached into the dark, seeking some vision of death, of its shape and substance. (To Be Continued)

Legislature to Honor Seamster

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Senate and House meet in joint session this afternoon to honor the late Lee Seamster of radars who refused to return to the Morris College campus.

There was no immediate effort among the Sumter Negroes to post bonds of $100 each.

In Atlanta, the "jail, no bail" campaign of Negro students arrested about two weeks ago weakened slightly when nine posted $100 bonds on trespass charges in connection with sit-ins. But 70 students chose to remain behind bars.

In a federal court civil rights trial at Opelika, Ala., a Macon County voter registrar denied that he knowingly made it more difficult for Negroes to register than for white persons. "They all look alike to me," said Wheeler Dyson.

Federal attorneys charged that Negroes were systematically denied the ballot in the black belt county where Negro residents outnumber white persons 6-1. Twice as many white persons as Negroes are registered voters.

Homer Williby is perfectly normal except for his five legs and six feet.

Homer Williby, you see, is a terrapin.

"My grandpa Wells found Homer in the ground. He was frozen. It took him two days to get thawed out," explains 10-year-old Janice Burns of Fort Smith, Homer's owner and best friend.

"He has five legs and six feet. The fifth leg is attached under Homer's body near his tail. At what could be called an ankle, the leg divides into two feet.

old coffee can filled with dirt and seems content.

"I feed him lettuce and celery but when I can find some worms I will feed him that," Janice says. The terrapin's time isn't terribly crowded — "Homer stays under the ground and sleeps most of the time."

A distant cousin of Homer Williby turned up last week near Camden.

This was an 80-pound snapping turtle, caught in a net at Pedion Lake by Dean Steelman, a Camden grocer and fisherman.

It had a head about the size of a man's, was reconed capable of eating its weight in fish daily and was calculated to be more than 100 years old. It was, the Camden News said, "probably taking fish out of local lakes when the Yankees and Rebels were having their disagreement around Camden."

What does one do with such a critter?

"I think I'll give it to my wife for a pet," said Steelman. "She's been after me for a pet for some time."

He repeats the story of an exchange between Lincoln and his secretary of state, William H. Seward. Seward wanted the president to rewrite a message to the British prime minister in more elegant language.

"Mr. Secretary," said Lincoln, "do you suppose Palmerston will understand our position from my letter, just as it is?"

"Certainly, Mr. President," said Seward.

"Do you suppose the London Times will..."

"Certainly."

"Do you suppose the average Englishman of affairs will?"

"Certainly. It cannot be mis-taken in England."

"Do you suppose that a back-man on his box will understand it?"

"Certainly."

"Very well, Mr. Secretary. I guess we'll let her slide just as she is."

Fagan's Use Tax Bills Are Vetoed

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval F. Faubus said today he had vetoed two bills by Sen. Ellis Fagan of Little Rock designed to equalize exemptions to the sales and use taxes.

He said he would sign a third bill designed to reduce use tax exemptions.

Fagan's bills would have tightened up on exemptions to the use tax, in effect a sales tax on purchases made outside the state, but would have extended the same exemptions to the sales tax.

The other bill, by Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsem, would make use tax exemptions apply on equipment or materials which could not be bought in Arkansas.

Faubus signed a bill to impose married and moved away.

Chance, or something, took all their husbands to the same town, however—Atlanta, Ga., some 1,000 miles from Rogers.

Other bills signed by Faubus included ones to: Permit consolidation of two or more school districts with each district retaining equal representation on the combined board; transfer from the Revenue Department to the Public Service Commission the duty of assessing airlines; set up a procedure for filing and paying claims against counties.
